

INDIGENOUS YOUTH DAY FOR CLIMATE JUSTICE MAY 7, 2017

Billy Frank Jr. Community Services Center, 4820 She-Nah-Num Drive SE, Nisqually, WA, starting at 11 am “A Time for Gathering”

An opportunity for Native youth (middle school to college) to learn more about climate change and fossil fuels, and how to get involved in protecting our water and our future. Talks, workshops, art projects, lunch & dinner, and evening Coastal Jam. No cost or registration; hotel options on website.

Faith Spotted Eagle

(Ihanktonwan Dakota/Nakota), a key leader in the fights to stop the Keystone XL & Dakota Access Pipelines, and recipient of one electoral vote for President.

Rueben George

(Tsleil-Waututh First Nation), a key leader in the fight to stop the KinderMorgan Pipeline in B.C., with his son Cedar George-Parker.

Faith Spotted Eagle

TH.-FRI, MAY 4-5:

Indigenous Climate Justice Symposium, The Evergreen State College Longhouse

SAT., MAY 6:

Leschi-Quiemuth Honor Walk
(registration required)

Rueben George

More info & contacts: Climate Change & Pacific Rim Indigenous Nations Project
<https://sites.evergreen.edu/indigenousclimate>

Thanks to Nisqually Charitable Fund, Nisqually Environmental Team, Evergreen's Clean Energy Committee, President's Equity Fund, Native Programs, and Native Student Alliance, and South Puget Sound Community College