

Celtic Death Deities

Who has as many different variations
as Ireland has counties?

THE MORRIGAN

The Morrigan comes in many different forms. Sometimes she is the red haired mother of Brigid, others she is the powerful Medb, but most interestingly, she is the Battle Crow. She is a shapeshifter goddess of the Tuatha Dé Danann, who chooses the slain, and escorts the souls of the dead into the otherworld.

BALOR OF THE EVIL EYE

While not one of the Tuatha Dé Danann, Balor of the Evil Eye was a god of death to the Celtic people, as the king of the Fomorians. His evil eye could instantly kill any that its gaze fell upon.
